

References

- [1] James H. Anderson and Jae-Heon Yang. Time/contention trade-offs for multiprocessor synchronization. Inf. Comput., 124(1):68–84, 1996.
- [2] Rachel Ben-Eliyahu and Menachem Magidor. A temporal logic for proving properties of topologically general executions. Inf. Comput., 124(2):127–144, 1996.
- [3] Gérard Cécé, Alain Finkel, and S. Purushothaman Iyer. Unreliable channels are easier to verify than perfect channels. Inf. Comput., 124(1):20–31, 1996.
- [4] Abbas Edalat. Power domains and iterated function systems. Inf. Comput., 124(2):182–197, 1996.
- [5] Lance Fortnow and Nick Reingold. Pp is closed under truth-table reductions. Inf. Comput., 124(1):1–6, 1996.
- [6] Campbell B. Fraser, Robert W. Irving, and Martin Middendorf. Maximal common subsequences and minimal common supersequences. Inf. Comput., 124(2):145–153, 1996.
- [7] Andreas Gruchalski. Computability on dl-domains. Inf. Comput., 124(1):7–19, 1996.
- [8] Christian Haack. A decomposition theorem for domains. Inf. Comput., 124(1):62–67, 1996.
- [9] Chun-Kuen Ho. Beyond recursive real functions. Inf. Comput., 124(2):113–126, 1996.
- [10] Douglas J. Howe. Proving congruence of bisimulation in functional programming languages. Inf. Comput., 124(2):103–112, 1996.
- [11] Delia Kesner, Laurence Puel, and Val Tannen. A typed pattern calculus. Inf. Comput., 124(1):32–61, 1996.
- [12] P. Kosiuczenko and K. Meinke. On the power of higher-order algebraic specification methods. Inf. Comput., 124(1):85–101, 1996.

- [13] Alexander Rabinovich. On schematological equivalence of dataflow networks. Inf. Comput., 124(2):154–167, 1996.
- [14] Hsu-Chun Yen. On the regularity of petri net languages. Inf. Comput., 124(2):168–181, 1996.