References

[1] Frédéric Blanqui, Jean-Pierre Jouannaud, and Mitsuhiro Okada. Iductive-data-type systems. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):41–68, 2002.

[2] Mario Coppo, Ferrucccio Damiani, and Paola Giannini. Strictness, totality, and non-standard-type inference. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):69–112, 2002.

[3] Ryu Hasegawa. Two applications of analytic functors. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):113–175, 2002.

[4] Susumu Hayashi, Ryosuke Sumitomo, and Kech-ichiro Shii. Towards the animation of proofs — testing proofs by examples. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):177–195, 2002.

[5] Hajime Ishihara and Toshihiko Kurata. Completeness of intersection and union type assignment systems for call-by-value λ-models. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):197–221, 2002.

[6] Yukiyoshi Kameyama and Masahiko Sato. Strong normalizability of the non-deterministic catch/throw calculi. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):223–245, 2002.

[7] Andrew D. Ker, Hanno Nickau, and C.-H. Luke Ong. Innocent game models of untyped λ-calculus. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):247–292, 2002.

[8] Martijn Oostdijk and Herman Geuvers. Proof by computation in the coq system. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):293–314, 2002.

[9] Tarmo Uustalu and Varmo Vene. Least and greatest fixed points in intuitionistic natural deduction. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):315–339, 2002.

[10] Steffen van Bakel, Franco Barbanera, Mariangiola Dezani-Ciancaglini, and Fer-Jan de Vries. Intersection types for λ-trees. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):3–40, 2002.

[11] Hirofumi Yokouchi. Completeness of type assignment systems with intersection, union, and type quantifiers. Theor. Comput. Sci., 272(1-2):341–398, 2002.