References

[1] Zheng-Jian Bai and Raymond H. Chan. Inverse eigenproblem for centrosymmetric and centroskew matrices and their approximation. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):309–318, 2004.

[2] Andrej Bauer, Lars Birkedal, and Dana S. Scott. Equilogical spaces. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):35–59, 2004.

[3] S. Berardi and C. Berline. Building continuous webbed models for system f. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):3–34, 2004.

[4] D.A. Bini and L. Gemignani. Bernstein-bezoutian matrices. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):319–333, 2004.

[5] A. Bompadre, G. Matera, R. Wachenchauzer, and A. Waissbein. Polynomial equation solving by lifting procedures for ramified fibers. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):335–369, 2004.

[6] D. Burago, D. Grigoriev, and A. Slissenko. Approximating shortest path for the skew lines problem in time doubly logarithmic in $1/\epsilon$. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):371–404, 2004.

[7] Cristiano Calcagno. Two-level languages for program optimization. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):61–81, 2004.

[8] Ernie Croot, Ren-Cang Li, and Hui June Zhu. The abc conjecture and correctly rounded reciprocal square roots. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):405–417, 2004.

[9] Z. Füredi and R.P. Kurshan. Minimal length test vectors for multiple-fault detection. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):191–208, 2004.

[10] Georg Heinig and Karla Rost. Split algorithms for skewsymmetric toeplitz matrices with arbitrary rank profile. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):453–468, 2004.

[11] Igor Kaporin. The aggregation and cancellation techniques as a practical tool for faster matrix multiplication. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):469–510, 2004.

[12] Konečný. Real functions incrementally computable by finite automata. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):109–133, 2004.

[13] Fu-Rong Lin, Wai-Ki Ching, and Michael K. Ng. Fast inversion of triangular toeplitz matrices. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):511–523, 2004.

[14] Gavin Lowe. Semantic models for information flow. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):209–256, 2004.

[15] Gregorio Malajovich and Maurice Rojas. High probability analysis of the condition number of sparse polynomial systems. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):525–555, 2004.

[16] D. Noutsos, S. Serra Capizzano, and P. Vassalos. Matrix algebra preconditioners for multilevel toeplitz systems do not insure optimal convergence rate. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):557–579, 2004.

[17] Victor Y. Pan, Marc van Barel, Xinmao Wang, and Gianni Codevico. Iterative inversion of structured matrices. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):581–592, 2004.

[18] Luis Miguel Pardo and Jorge San Martín. Deformation techniques to solve generalised pham systems. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):593–625, 2004.

[19] Sonia Pérez-Díaz, Juana Sendra, and J. Rafael Sendra. Parametrization of approximate algebraic curves by lines. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):627–650, 2004.

[20] David J. Pym, Peter W. O'Hearn, and Hongseok Yang. Possible worlds and resources: The semantics of bi. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):257–305, 2004.

[21] Andrea Schalk and Valeria de Paiva. Poset-valued sets or how to build models for linear logics. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):83–107, 2004.

[22] M.P. Schellekens. The correspondence between partial metrics and semivaluations. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):135–149, 2004.

[23] Andrew J. Sommese, Jan Verschelde, and Charles W. Wampler. Numerical factorization of multivariate complex polynomials. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):651–669, 2004.

[24] Joachim von zur Gathen and Michael Nöcker. Fast arithmetic with general gauß periods. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(2-3):419–452, 2004.

[25] Zhe Yang. Encoding types in ml-like languages. Theor. Comput. Sci., 315(1):151–190, 2004.